

ANNA BILOKON

JUNIOR FRONT-END DEVELOPER

ABOUT MYSELF

I am an enthusiastic, adaptable, focused and motivated Junior Front-end Developer who is seeking an opportunity to contribute my knowledge into real projects.

During my studying there were many practical tasks with building web applications, solving complex problems of web development using different development tools. I have a great desire to develop myself in this field, learn from the best teams and work hard to bring value to the company and building solutions together. I have a flexible mindset and good communicational skills, I am a great team member and have ability to learn future trend, new technologies as fast as I can.
